~People's Choice~

Judging will be based on construction, creativity and best design for feeding intended wildlife species.

Eligibility: The contest is open to individuals—children and adults—and organized groups, such as families, home school-ers, faith-based organizations, clubs, scout troops, bakers, nature/outdoor enthusiasts, etc. One entry per individual or group is allowed and one registration form per entry is required.

Submissions: Must be delivered no later than 5pm on Friday, December 17, 2021. Late entries will not be considered for a prize, but will be enjoyed and appreciated by the animals!

Drop-off: To the Essex County Environmental Center, 621-B Eagle Rock Avenue, Roseland, NJ 07068. Drop-off details will be given by email to each participating entrant.

Awards: Winners will be announced and notified during the week of December 27th. One prize awarded in each category*.

RULES

- Each entry must include an index card with the following information: name, category entered under and a detailed project description.

- All entries must be an original construction and include wildlife friendly edible ingredients either collected outside or purchased from a store (example: corncobs, gourds, pumpkins, bird seed, fruit, acorns, sticks). Please NO meat, chocolate or candy; these are NOT animal friendly products.

- No plastic allowed. Construction with biodegradable compostable materials is encouraged (sticks, paper roll tubes, jute, cardboard, newspaper); the use of screws and nails is acceptable to hold the project together.

- Each entry must fit on top of a flat tree stump no larger than 14" x 14". The stump will be provided—please do not bring your own. You may use nails or screws to stabilize the structure. Ramps or other design features that help the animals access the food are acceptable.

- Materials should withstand the elements and provide feed for multiple days. Intended animal species to feed include squirrels, chipmunks, blue jays, cardinals, chickadees, other winter birds and forest wildlife.

- ECEC reserves the right to disallow any submission deemed objectionable or unsafe.

- ECEC is not responsible for any damage to or disappearance of the project.
